Learning Objects: Applications, Implications, & Future Directions

Contents

Acknowledgements ..............................................................................................................vii

Preface

Keith Harman & Alex Koohang ..........................................................ix

Section 1  E-Learning and Learning Objects

Chapter 1: E-learning and Learning Objects

Isabelle Sabau ................................................................................................................1

Chapter 2: An Ontological Approach to Learning Objects

Justin Taylor, Jill Slay, and Frank Kurzgel .........................................................35

Chapter 3: Learning Objects as Accessibility Tools for Teaching Art

Peggy Blood and Valerie Claire Haven .............................................63

Chapter 4: E-Learning & Learning Objects: Learning Information Searching in an E-Learning Environment

Sylvia Lauretta Edwards and Helen Partridge ..........89

Chapter 5: The Role of Learning Object Architecture in the Instructional Design of Successful Online Courses

Jeremy Dunning, Sunand Bhattacharya, Abtar Kaur, Mansor Fadzil, Ansary Ahmed, and Repin Ibrahim .........................................................137

Section II: Application

Chapter 6: Learning Objects and Their Implications On Learning: a Case of Developing the Foundation For a New Knowledge Infrastructure

Peter Bednar, Christine Welch, and Almerindo Graziano ...................................157
Chapter 7: Mobile Learning Objects to Support Constructivist Learning
Erkki Patokorpi, Franck Tétard, Feifei Qiao, and Nick Sjövall

Chapter 8: A Model to Support Alternate Instruction Within Learning Environments Delivering Learning Objects
Frank Kurzel

Chapter 9: An Educational Component Model for Learning Objects
John Freddy Duitama, Bruno Defude, Claire Lecocq, and Amel Bouzeghoub

Chapter 10: Service-Oriented Provisioning of Learning Objects
Gottfried Vossen and Peter Westerkamp

Chapter 11: Applications of Multimedia & Learning Object
Xiangming Mu

Chapter 12: Learning Objects in Classrooms
Bing Pan, Geri Gay, and John M. Saylor

Chapter 13: Creating Learning Objects
Carlos Francisco Lerma

Section III: Future Directions
Chapter 14: Learning Object Applications & Future Directions
Nicholas W. Farha and Jennie L. Mitchell

Chapter 15: The Future of Learning Objects in Educational Programs
Barbara Combes and Robyn Valli

Contributors
Authors
Editors
Editorial Review Board

Index